IN commenting on the Fascist bludgeoning of Toscanini in Bologna, I made a curious error. I said the brutality happened in the city made famous by sausages, "where the Two Gentlemen" came from. Of course, I meant Verona, the city between Milan and Venice, so famed for its works and schools of art, and, to most of us, for Shakespeare's play. Mussolini's boloney in Bologna has had repercussions in music, a celebrated director refusing to go there, as agreed.

Peace Workers Peacefully Invade Carmel

World disarmament was a topical subject in Carmel yesterday, with two meetings centering on the theme. The first gathering was held shortly after four o'clock in the town "park" upon the arrival of the W. I. L. Peace Caravan; the second, in the evening at the Denny-Watrous Gallery.

Willard W. Wheeler, presiding in enthusiastic fashion at the afternoon meeting, welcomed the caravan to "the beautiful and smug little town of Carmel," lauded the peace workers' aspirations and led in a novel "death knell for Old Man War." Mayor Heron seconded the welcome in a neatly-phrased speech, brief out of consideration for the speakers to follow.

The meeting was then turned over to Mabel Vernon, member of the caravan, who introduced her fellow travellers and outlined the purpose and objective of the transcontinental trip—one million signatures for presentation to President Hoover before the next Disarmament Conference.

Katherine Devereux Blake, prominent New Yorker, and Miss Mildred Scott Ohmstead also spoke. The prime object of the meeting—gathering of signatures was accomplished during the course of the talks. The petition reads:

"The undersigned men and women, irrespective of party, are convinced that competition in armaments is leading all countries to ruin without giving security; that this policy renders future wars inevitable and that these will be wars of extermination; that governmental assurances of peaceful policy will be valueless as long as those measures of disarmament are delayed that should be the first result of the pact for the renunciation of war.

"They should therefore ask for total and universal disarmament and re-

Further Facts on the Water Situation

Figures obtained from the Railroad Commission, public utilities governing body in California, appear to bear out the contention that Carmel and the two other Peninsula municipalities are paying an unduly high rate for fire-hydrant rental. The local charge is three dollars per hydrant per month, with an additional charge for water drawn from the hydrants for street purposes, making the city's annual water bill in excess of three thousand dollars. In return, the waterworks company apparently undertakes no guarantees that the system is or will be made adequate for fire protection requirements, or even that service will be maintained without interruption.

Following are official figures on the cost of hydrant rental in cities not too remote, and so far as the water situation goes, not too dissimilar to the Peninsula communities:

Salinas, flat rate of one hundred dollars per month.

King City, flat rate, $25.00 per month and fifty cents per hydrant. (On this basis, Carmel's monthly bill would be $46 instead of $252.)

San Jose, $3.25 per month for company-owned hydrants; $2.50 per month for city-owned hydrants. (Higher than Monterey Peninsula.)

Hollister, flat rate, $100 per month.

San Mateo, $1.50 per month for company-owned hydrants, $1.00 for city-owned.

Bakersfield, $2.25 per month per hydrant. Continued on last page

quest their governments formally to instruct its delegates to the international Disarmament Conference, meeting in February 1932, to examine all proposals for disarmament that have been or may be made, and to take the necessary steps to achieve real disarmament."

KINO BAY

To the Editor of The Daily Carmelite:

I take my pen in hand to ask some questions about Porter Emerson Browne and his Kino Bay Notes.

First, why does Mr. Browne write notes about Kino Bay? And why does The Carmelite publish them?

Kino Bay, I gather, is located somewhere on the coast of Sonora, Mexico. Mr. Browne, if I remember rightly, is the bozo who wrote "The Bad Man," a play with one delicious character and all the rest sticks, a horrible melodrama with one golden thread of satire running through it.

And why does Porter Emerson Browne waste the precious years at Kino Bay?

Really, his Notes do not portray Kino Bay as a very attractive place. Perhaps he is troubled with t. b., and was ordered there by a physician. But if it is t. b., there are other places quite as good, where Mr. Browne could write about Navajos or Comanches, instead of those terrible Seris.

If Mr. Brown is afflicted with t. b., please convey to him an expression of my deepest sympathy. But if he is not, I suggest that he move to Carmel, where I am sure he will find something more interesting to write about than Professor Sidebottom and the Seris.

"The Bad Man," when produced in Carmel, was so well received that it was deemed advisable to present it again at a later date. Of course this was due in part to the superb acting of Jo Mora. But I think you can safely tell Porter Emerson Browne that he will not be unwelcome in Carmel—at least, if his coming would result in the discontinuation of the Kino Bay Notes in The Carmelite.

ALEX CRAIG

Possibly anticipating doubts as to the existence of Kino Bay, Porter Emerson Browne has sent an article in slightly more serious vein, describing his bailiwick. It will be published in an early issue. Mr. Browne has no real estate to sell.—Ed.

One hundred sixty-two California cities and towns have municipally-owned waterworks. In the majority of these cases, hydrant costs are absorbed in the general overhead and do not appear in the accounts as separate items, hence comparisons cannot be made. The figures cited, however, show that the subject is at least open to investigation.

More important than cost is the question of the Carmel water system's adequacy for fire protection under circumstances likely to arise due to peculiar local hazards. Three years ago, the Board of Underwriters condemned the system of mains as inadequate, made specific recommendations, in particular:—

1. That the distribution system supplying the high value district and the more closely built residential district be strengthened by closed gridiron or secondary feeders and that dead ends be eliminated wherever possible.

The following system of mains was recommended to remove the greatest deficiencies of the distribution system.

Eight-inch main on Ocean from Juniperio to Monte Verde, replacing the present six-inch main.

Six-inch mains on Ocean between Santa Rita and Torres; on Thirteenth Avenue between Mission and San Antonio; and on Fourth between Carpentier and Santa Rita.

2. That the system be so equipped with gate valves that no single break or repair will necessitate shutting from service a length of pipe greater than five hundred feet in the business district or seven hundred feet in the residential areas.

So far as can be ascertained, none of these recommendations made three years ago have been carried into effect. It follows that in the opinion of the Board of Underwriters, most competent authority in the matter, the Carmel water system could stand some attention.
